Book Condition and what to expect?

- All books are “second-hand” so have been used.
- Better condition – minimal pen or highlighter (i.e. on < 4 pages), may have some pencil markings. Normal wear and tear for a used book but considered to be in reasonable condition. The cover may have a bend (often from carrying in the bag). These books sell at 2/3 of new price.
Fair condition – pen markings or highlighter on > 4 pages, significant pencil markings. Torn or significantly damaged pages or cover. If it looks scruffy, it will be considered fair condition.
- Books are compared to others available and it is evident which are in better or fair condition.
- The book sale is run by the support of volunteers and books are selected as best possible.
- E books and reactivation codes. Where there is a reactivation code that needs to be purchased this cost is deducted from the new book price. Then the better condition or good condition price is applied. From experience we are aware that some books which can be reactivated can only be reactivated in the new year (approx.. 9 -12 months from last activation)
- Full terms and conditions are on Compass.

The list of books that may be available for sale is available on the CGSC website.
